[II] • STUDIO MANIFESTO

Architecture begins when two bricks are put together carefully.

At THE ARTIHC STUDIO, we believe an interior is not mere decoration. It is an enduring spatial sanctuary that shapes how one lives, reflects, and connects.

[I] • ARCHITECTURAL NARRATIVE

Spatial Intent & Material Strategy

The House of Allay stands as a rigorous study in monolithic tranquility. Located on an elevated enclave in Jubilee Hills, the architectural composition balances monumental fluted stone colonnades with expansive glass apertures that frame courtyards of native flora. The interior unfolds in an unbroken sequence of spatial thresholds—honed Italian travertine floorplates transition into custom white oak millwork and patinated architectural bronze hardware. Natural daylight is sculpted through recessed clerestory apertures, yielding a shifting chiaroscuro across the day.
